Energy in the gas	26.4 MMBtu per hour
Power at a heat rate of 9,000 Btu/kWh	about 2.9 MW
Compute (power less cooling and losses, /1.2)	about 2.4 MW
Compute modules (about 1 MW each)	3
Gas engines (running plus one spare)	3 at 2.5 MW
Land: 5 acres plus 1.2 acres per MW	about 9 acres
Gas bought per year (95% run time)	219k MMBtu
Gas payment, up to $3.00/MMBtu	up to $658k
Land lease at $1,000 to $2,000 per acre per year	$9k to $17k

Flare gas at about 81% methane (EPA GHGRP 2023) is shown as its pipeline-gas equivalent at 1,037 Btu per cubic foot: about 780 Mcf/d of flare gas is about 0.61 MMcf/d equivalent. Only the methane is counted, at about 1,012 Btu per cubic foot. Prices in US dollars; the price band is the one shown on our Site model page.

WHAT IT WOULD LOOK LIKE

- Our own gas engines on a fenced parcel near the gas, a battery to smooth the load, and factory-built compute modules leased to an AI company.
- No grid connection and no export: all of the power is used on site.
- We build and run the site. The owner puts in no capital.
- Multi-year gas and land agreements, matched to the tenant's lease, at a fixed price.

WORTH CHECKING

- 24 months of metered flare volumes, with what drives them
- A recent gas analysis of the flared stream
- Oklahoma DEQ air permit for the engines
